

Dear God, I confess that I am a sinner and separated from You because of my sins. I am truly sorry and now want to forsake my sinful lifestyle. I believe that Your Son, Jesus died for my sins, was resurrected from the dead, and is alive. I confess Jesus Christ as my Lord and Savior and invite Him to reign in my heart from this day forward. Thank You, Jesus for dying for my sins so that I can be forgiven and have Eternal Life. Amen.

If you said this Prayer of Salvation from the bottom of your heart, we rejoice with you because you are now a child of God (John 1:12-13).

The Blame Game...

It is common these days for people to use another person's character flaw or error as a reason to keep rejecting the free Gift of Salvation offered to them. Some may have been deeply hurt, or disappointed. They may have chosen to continue living life without Christ because of what a born-again (saved) colleague, friend, neighbor, family member, or a spiritual leader they only heard about, did or did not do right. If you are one of these souls, there are two things we would like you to understand.

1. That born-again Christian may not be perfect. We are all Work in Progress in the hands of our Master. Those who are saved give in to sin sometimes and stumble, but we are forgiven when we admit that we indeed sinned, confess the sin to the Lord, and take steps to repent, because our Heavenly Father is rich in mercy and His Dear Son, Jesus Christ our Savior paid for those sins. While we here, will never support the Once Saved, Always Saved Doctrine some Christian leaders are feeding people with, we will be quick to let you know that Christ will not toss out anyone who has truly received Him as Lord and Savior (John 6:37-39). A person who is saved may however decide to depart from Him to follow a different path. He or she is then said to have left the Faith by choice. There are other scenarios as well, whereby a person can be said to have departed from the Lord. Many argue that anyone who chooses to leave the Faith was not truly saved in the first place; but the subject of Leaving the Faith is beyond the discussion here. Let's move on to the next point!

2. If a born-again (saved) Christian keeps giving in to sin, the Lord has His ways of putting the person right. He does not give up on any of us. Rather, He disciplines us as a Loving Father would (Hebrews 12:5-11).

These all mean that a person who is saved will most likely make it right with the Lord when they sin and be forgiven with no condemnation. Once they make it right with Him, He forgets the sin, and it's as though nothing ever happened (Isaiah 43:25). They need not tell you when or how they made things right with Him to justify anything. Making a confession (to you) of what they did to directly or indirectly offend you would be the noble thing to do, and may or may not mend your relationship with them. That said, confession of sins to a fellow human being is not a condition to be forgiven by God. The most that is required of this person to make things right with you, is to offer an apology and make restitution where possible. While the person did the needful and moved on because of the privileges he has as a forgiven and repentant child of God, you may still be nursing a grudge, thinking of what they did to you last week, last month, or years ago, that was all so wrong.

"That is not fair," you may say; but salvation through Jesus Christ is what it is: A Gift of God's Amazing Grace, which is also available to you (1 John 2:2). You rob yourself of joy here on earth, and eternal bliss when you keep rejecting this Gift. We shall all be judged after death (Hebrews 9:27). On the Day of Judgment, it will be just you, standing in front of the Lord to be judged for your sins; not you and the person you blamed for refusing to be saved while on earth - Salvation is personal. It will then be too late to have a change of heart, and you will probably remember reading this "unimportant" tract. All unsaved persons will spend eternity in the Lake of Fire (Mark 9:43-48, Matthew 13:40-42), which is why it is important that you receive the Gift of Salvation, now, dear one. Tomorrow might just be too late (James 4:13-15)!

HOW TO RECEIVE JESUS CHRIST TODAY

The Bible says that if you confess with your mouth that Jesus Christ is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised Him from the dead, you will be saved (Romans 10:9).

1. Admit that you are a sinner.
2. Be willing to turn from your sins.
3. Believe in your heart that Jesus Christ died for your sins on the Cross, and rose from the dead.
4. Then bow your head and say the following prayer of salvation.
